Unless you can get a used car warranty from the dealer you're buying the car from or from a third party, non-certified used cars generally don't come with a warranty. That means a used car might have a higher cost of ownership over a new car when you factor in maintenance costs. If you're shopping for a used car and you're not planning on it having a warranty, it's a good idea to do some research on its reliability and cost of ownership.
